

SHIPPING

- There is absolutely no advanced shipping to the stadium prior to May 8.
- BEST: Advanced shipping to the Brede warehouse (Yellow Freight) is recommended. Brede will hold the freight until set up, bring the shipment to the show, and place it directly into your booth.
- GOOD: Ship your freight in on the day of set up (May 8 ONLY) via private carrier (FedEx, UPS, etc.) and consign it over to Brede. To do this, you would address your shipping label as indicated in the shipping instructions (c/o Brede at the loading dock address). FedEx, UPS, etc. would deliver your shipment on set up day - May 8 - directly to Brede staff, who will scan the freight and take ownership of its safety and getting it directly to your booth. Is there a charge for this? Yes, but it is minimal because you will KNOW your freight will be safe once it arrives at the stadium (PLUS it will be delivered directly to your booth). This is available for May 8 ONLY.
- NOT RECOMMENDED, BUT ALLOWED: You are allowed to ship in on the day of setup - May 8 - via private carrier (UPS, FedEx, etc.) and not have the label set up so it is consigned to Brede. Here's what will happen: The security guard at the stadium's dock will sign for the shipment, and the freight will be left on the dock. Stadium staff - as they have time - will bring up the freight to the concourse area to be picked up by you. The risk in sending your freight this way is there is very little accountability for it once it arrives at the stadium.
